Formalitäten:

I would say that I am grateful for the opportunity I had to study a semester abroad in Bordeaux France and I would recommend this to every student who is willing to spend sometimes abroad

Motivation und Vorbereitung der Mobilität:

Going to France was a nice opportunity for me, I have always wanted to go to live and spend sometimes in France, feeling the atmosphere of Bordeaux and knowing how the French students live their university life and what does it mean to study in a Grand Ecole was very important for me and motivated me a lot to do this Erasmus semester in Bordeaux – France.

Beginn der Mobilität:

02/09/2020 :: finding a room was not easy to be honest and somehow it is a bit expensive, but there is a lot of opportunities for students, in the center is the most expensive but if you go a bit far from the center you can find cheaper rooms to rent. If you are coming from Europe then you are not going to face a lot of difficulties with your papers and insurance etc..

Verlauf der Mobilität:

Living cost is not that expensive and you need almost 300 euros to bring all your stuff like grocery and food.

It is better to learn some French before you go to France cause most of the people there do not speak English.

People are friendly however French student are a bit shy, so most of the time you need to make the first step. The mobility ended on 18/12/2020

Was habe ich gelernt und was nehme ich aus dieser Zeit mit?:

I have improved my French skills a lot in Bordeaux and I learnt many new topics about the French culture and, I expanded my business knowledge by learning new courses and have a look at some the business atmosphere in France and I learned some information about the vine industry and how it is important for the French people and specially for the people from Bordeaux.

Green ERASMUS – Wie wird das Thema Umwelt an der Gasteinrichtung & im Gastland behandelt? :

Climate change and global warming is always mentioned where I did my semester abroad at INSEEC business school, they try to keep it always in minds of the student to show how important this topic is, and how it affects our life directly or indirectly. they also prepare some brochures or article and provide it to the students to raise the awareness about this subject.
