Organisational preparation (application, consultation with host institution, etc.):

The entire exchange was prepared in advance and there was a work program arranged with the host institution for each day.

Start of the mobility (welcoming at the host institution, orientation at the host country, etc.):

The entire arrival and welcome were very well organized by the host institution

Course of the mobility (exchange, learning successes, cooperation talks, further procedure, etc.):

Exchanges of work with professors of the faculty took place, concluding actions to improve and promote the student exchange that is currently carried out, the excellent infrastructure for research and teaching that exists available for student exchange was verified. Actions were decided to be carried out to facilitate visa processes for student exchange.

What are the results of my stay abroad (cooperation agreement, expansion of the internationalisation of the SRH, personal development etc.):

The exchange made it possible to identify the potentialities of cooperation with the host institution, as well as to identify companies in Macedonia that are willing to receive SRH students for internships as part of student mobility between the two universities. Contacts were created to apply for a project within the ERASMUS program to promote university education for the integration of renewable energies with food production in agriculture, based on a concept of circular economy for rural regions.
